FAO's support on transparency

Mirella Salvatore

FAO Office of Climate Change, Biodiversity and Environment

How does FAO support on transparency?

Three-pillars approach: building future support based on lessons learned

Access funding	Address reporting requirements	Raise awareness and engagement
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • GEF CBIT and EA for BTR-NC • 23 National CBIT and 6 EA/BTR-NC projects • Provide technical guidance in the project design 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Institutional arrangements • National GHG Inventory • NDC tracking • Mitigation options • Adaptation reporting • NDC enhancement 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Knowledge products • International events • Academia • Youth • Gender • Private sector

In addition to the national projects, FAO is implementing the Global capacity building towards enhanced transparency (CBIT-AFOLU+) and the Building global capacity to increase transparency in the forest sector (CBIT-Forest) projects

2 million USD

Main objectives

- Strengthen country capacity in setting up a country-led transparency system
- Refine tools and resources to respond to country needs
- Facilitate knowledge sharing and peer-to-peer exchange
- Enhance coordination among transparency initiatives and other GEF implementing agencies
- Engage with a range of stakeholders, such as academia, youth, private sector

Modalities of support

Addressing reporting requirements

- Online one-to-one mentoring on technical issues
- Troubleshooting for the BTR preparation
- Review of BTR drafts and TER simulation
- In-country national training addressing ETF aspects
- Regional trainings on enhancing BTR awareness
- Fostering multi-stakeholder engagement to enhance transparency arrangements, across ministries and with non-state actors

Guiding countries through tools

- Biennial transparency report (BTR) guidance and roadmap tool
- Greenhouse Gas Data Management (GHG-DM) tool
- Archiving guidance for GHG Inventories
- LoGlc tool for land representation
- E-learning series: National Greenhouse Gas Inventories
- NDC Expert Tool (NEXT)
- NDC Tracking tool
- M&E training package
- Metrics for GGA and SDG

How to request FAO's support?

Global CBIT-AFOLU+ project supports around 12 countries

Countries can request dedicated support through:

- An Expression of Interest (EoI) form that will be provided by sending an email to ETF@fao.org
- The Transparency in agriculture and land use sectors Network where the EoI is shared.
- The climate transparency platform at the Request for Support, identifying FAO as support provider.
